In today's fast pace economy, the old adage "time is money" has never been more true. If you are considering starting your own business or have an existing business, you should know what legal options best serve and protect your financial interest, both personally and professionally.

At the Law Offices of Bruce Collins, we specialize in all types of business law – partnership agreements, incorporation, transactional review, litigation, wills and trusts.

Forming the right type of business entity and planning your future can protect your personal and business assets from tax liability, creditor claims and costly litigation should an unforeseen death or debilitating injury occur.

Do I need a will? If I have partners, do I need a buy/sell agreement? Will my assets be distributed directly to my wife in case of death? These are just a few examples of the many considerations a person must face when forming a new business.

Bruce Collins has been practicing law in Orange County for more than 28 years and has successfully represented clients in types of litigation.

Our goal is to resolve matters for our clients quickly, cost efficiently and successfully. To arrange for a consultation, call us here at the law offices of Bruce Collins.
